EDWARD DRUMMOND LIBBEY
HIGH SCHOOL

A modern school in a modern day! Teeming with life and activity, within the walls of one building work and play more than two thousand young people, eagerly looking forward to the completion of their task and to the day upon which they will exchange practice for experience. Now they want novelty, speed, change, and a world geared to intense motion. Yet in the years to come may they recall pleasantly their days at Libbey and review in the pages of this Edelian the experiences of one of the happiest periods of their lives, when everything seemed most glorious.

HARRY STAPLETON

D E D I

To return to teach in the school from which one receives his secondary education is one of the happiest aspirations of a student. This is the ideal that has been achieved by Mr. Harry Stapleton. To Libbey, in the years that he has been a member of the faculty, he has given valiant service as a classroom teacher, director of activities, and athletics director, greatly aiding by his knowledge of business in the financial and advertising departments of the school. A kindly husband and father, an earnest worker, he has for his hobby an interestingly large file of ideas he has collected for professional advancement. Because of his manifold service to the school that he loves, the Senior Class respectfully dedicates to him this Edelian and wishes him great joy and prosperity.

MEMORY

At evening when the shadows just begin
 To cover all the harshness of the day,
 And soothe with easeful sounds and softened tones
 The hurried hearts of those whose work or play
 Has urged them, forced them, lashed them to a pace
 That all this world of men is pleased to call a race,
 There darts from out its hidden storing place
 A tugging, restive, poignant memory,
 Flashing a tear, a sigh, a smile, a love,
 A dream that we were sure had ceased to be.
 And as the darkness deepens we relive
 The myriad joys that memory alone can give.

QUERY

Suppose a sudden miracle
Came clearly into view
And delved into infinity
To find a gift for you,
Waiting an awful moment
While you made up your mind
Just how you'd choose the priceless thing
And leave all else behind.
Would you ask for wealth or power,
Or that joy might never cease?
Or would you with a prayerful heart
Accept the gift of peace?

RALPH E. DUGDALE

SUPERINTENDENT

Because Libbey is but a small part of the system which is under the jurisdiction of Mr. Dugdale, we are unable to share a personal knowledge of him as closely as we should like to. His influence, however, is deeply felt, and our students and teachers alike have profited by his judicious administration, his ideas of fairness, and his broadness of view. To the young people of our community he stands as a fine example of one who combines the power of intellectual attainment with the wholesomeness of splendid living. We are proud that he is our leader and wish him success in the larger program that he envisions for the schools of Toledo.

PRINCIPAL

HAROLD E. WILLIAMS

To make toil into pleasure and to radiate from the depths of a sincere heart a warmth that inspires those who are around him are outstanding traits of the one who has striven for fourteen years to make Libbey High School the cynosure of the South Side. His interest in and his ambition for his school have never shown abatement and his kindness is always extended to everyone. As the seniors say farewell to Mr. Williams they remember his participation in their joys and in their work and extend to him their love and gratitude for the countless things he has done for them and the promise that they will ever consider his wise counsel.

It's fun to enter and fun to leave.

How mysterious an entrance really is.

scores again. Did you know that our language department is very good because Miss Coehrs studied in Spain; Miss Lok, in Germany; Miss Kreuger, in France; Miss Russell, in Mexico; and Mrs. Burton, in Rome and Greece? Or that Miss Brown, the first woman dean of girls at Libbey and a former president of the T. T. A., has an honorary life membership in the National Education Association? You surely remember that arrival of William Douglas on the very day that his young daddy, Mr. Everhart, began the sale of doughnuts that was to land a mimeograph in the English department! And weren't the freshman thrilled when Miss Swanson told of her motoring through Sweden, while Miss Gosline, Mr. Everhart, and Mrs. Mills chatted of European trips also. As yet Miss DeLisle and Miss Gerdes have not written their travel books, although the former has had poems and articles published, while Miss Gerdes loves to reminisce about her visit to Queen Wilhelmina's castle and the beautiful Wordsworth country. Books—why, they're food and drink to Miss Scott! Always enthusiastic Miss Payne goes and goes, but on the way she does things: a text book for the Y. W. C. A., called "Famous Women"; assistant directorship of Vacation Bible Schools of Ohio; president of T. T. A. Mr. Leiser, young and learned, is editing "The Tattler" which will be published by the Oxford University Press, was Tercentenary scholar at Harvard, and will be visiting scholar at the University of Chicago. To Mrs. Burton honor came when she contributed to the Macmillan Company pictures of models made in her Latin classes to be used in Ullman and Henry's Latin texts. Who hasn't heard Miss May launch forth on her hobby of speech and the value of courtesy? And don't you remember Miss Dusha as she trotted gaily off to her French and Italian clubs or to give a book review, perhaps; and when you insisted on knowing said reluctantly, "Yes, I do write and I have lectured in several states besides Ohio, and as a charter member of the women's group of the Alumni Association of Columbia University I was invited to the jubilee dinner of Nicholas Murray Butler at the Waldorf-Astoria". Her love of flowers makes Miss Irwin's room a lovely place for her students to think and grow wiser in—and isn't she generous with her car! Who know, for instance, that our own junior dean was the first student council president at the University of Maine, that Mr. Baker talked with Franklin Delano Roosevelt at the Democratic convention in 1920, that Mr. Vander's hobby is philatelics and antique furniture, or that Miss Feller learned to polish epigrams while she was trotting round the world? Or could you imagine Miss Lutton owning and managing a farm—and with efficiency, too? We know already the skill of Miss Costigan in dramatics, and Miss Eberth's arrangement of her history tests and programs is as crisp as the report of a gun. When Miss Waite picks up her Buick coupe and floats to St. Ignace each summer, she plans her trips for the year—now east, now west—and is she generous in giving Edelians as prizes! Sudden and decisive Miss Henderson drives, plays tennis, and visits her fine brother in New York whenever she can scoot out of Toledo. Folks like Mr. Baker and Miss Feller help to make the Saturday Forum popular. Mr. Orwig combines a grin to cheer the heart of anyone with his hobby of sports. With her

You may need money some day—only if you teach, that is! The great secret of Libbey is Mr. Harvey, who silently enters and leaves our classrooms, communicating music to a pupil in some occult manner. If you ever wondered about Mr. Hunt's argumentative powers, know now that he was admitted to the bar in 1909. Law and Math made him a dean who dotes on law and order—or should we say ordering. He and Miss Voorheis share honors in writing, as he has published a book, "Commercial Law", while the dean of freshman girls gained honor with her "Pupil Inventory Booklet" when it was placed in the library of the American Eugenics Society in

Would geometry mean more if you knew that Miss Voorheis' project "Geometrical Design Notebooks" was on display in the University of Michigan High School library the summer of 1935 and that her fine work in education merited for her membership in Pi Lambda Theta?

We always get a gay send-off from our little Miss McGuire who has been to Europe as many times as some of us have years. She's broadminded, but she loves Ireland best, with its fairyland in the south and its rugged beauty in the north. "The cheapest wings I ever bought," said she, "were sent me by Austria during the War after I had sent money there." In the absence of Mrs. Watson, whose illness made necessary for her a leave of absence, Mrs. Houser, a former Libbeyite, conducts typing classes at school and enjoys her home and youngster, as well as university work. Who knows, for instance, that Mr. Martin is an artist and can do things with photographs, while Mr. Stapleton is a movie camera devotee? A linguist, a master of finance, and a mighty versatile person is Mr. Toepfer, who thinks astrology a most fascinating study. If you would read your fortune in the stars, consult him and he'll tell by your forehead whether you are Leo, Taurus, or what you wish. Our new Mr. Osgood was born in Manila and has been to China and Japan. Now isn't that something to remember when we're getting a program ready? And he was also superintendent of schools in Fort Jennings, Ohio. What you don't know probably is that Miss Snow is an ardent gymnast, and you don't know much if you haven't learned that Mr. Smith's hobby is fishing and that he writes the names of the seniors on their diplomas. Mrs. Flatz is a fine homemaker, we have been told. To Mrs. Watson, whose illness has kept her at home the greater part of the year, we extend our best wishes.

If the bug of education had not caught Miss Gates she might have been a doctor, for she studied medicine. How many have counted the pupils she has boosted with sympathy and money—or the flowers she has brought to Libbey or the research problems she has studied? Regretfully we think that ill health took Miss Shafer to Arizona.

Miss Bessey is new but she's a live wire. Having studied in China and Japan and having taught in Hawaii, she knows how to keep a class stepping. Incidentally too, she has served as health counsellor in a Detroit school and has done much work with the Social Hygiene Council of our city.

electric lights light when they're around. The fad of growing vegetables in water chemically treated is teasing the brain of Mr. Plough, while hundreds of dollars worth of camera equipment keep Mr. Dipman on the jump all day and in the developing room all night. His work of taking pictures throughout the city schools for display at the Museum of Art for the Western Arts Association was outstanding. And very helpful in this convention also was Mr. Fast. How Mr. Lockwood yearns for an enlarged industrial department at Libbey! Showing his boys how to win medals and honors in drawing, being president of the Federation of Teachers, and laying plans for research in occupational guidance keep Mr. Packer as busy as he ought to be, at least.

HOME ECONOMICS

While traveling in New England, Miss Wylie became intensely interested in colonial and the New England type of interior decorating. There she saw furniture just as it was in former days. She says that today, the maple furniture which has become very popular, is a copy of the colonial period, and many modern homes are being furnished with it. Among the homes she visited in the East were the House of Seven Gables, home of Nathaniel Hawthorne, and the home of Louisa Alcott. With Miss Owen and Miss Lloyd, Miss Wylie has written notebooks for the freshmen classes. She belongs to the American Association for Women, and to the Scholarship Committee here at Libbey. During the war, Miss Kelso, our nurse, attended a nurses' training camp, open only to college graduates, at Vassar, worked in a farm unit during the World War, and now enjoys keeping house in her apartment, playing golf, studying, and inspiring and comforting pupils at Libbey.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Of course, you'd expect the gym teachers to be pretty peppy in their hobbies, and they are, but both Miss Maher and Miss Bowman are willing to spend time reading, "Especially when it's hot", says Miss Bowman. Miss Maher has spent her past few summers working on her master's degree. In addition to being nursemaid to her niece, Miss Bowman goes golfing, swimming, and horse-back riding. Mr. Jeffery in his off days supervises playgrounds, and aids in the civic recreation program. Again in Mr. Ardner we have a former student returned to his old school. You don't remember, but he used to be a pretty fast runner on the basketball floor, a popular fellow, and a good student. It's nice he is back and if his first year is any sample of what his future in sports will be, Libbey is sure of a teacher with enthusiasm and vim.

LIBRARY and OFFICE

Have you ever noticed the piles of things that have to be done in the office? Money, phones, lost and found, mail, questions, bulletins, grade-cards, truant complaints, bad boys, more and more questions—well, you finish it, we are tired. But what do you think of the three persons who make up our office department? Well, if they do get tired, they don't complain, but are pleasant and helpful always. Perhaps Mrs. Sullivan forgets her duties as the treasurer of the school as she motors back and forth to her fine cottage spring and fall. Miss Vye likes to study costumes and play bridge and make interesting salads, in addition to being an efficient manager of the book room. The newest of the group, Miss Holst, has hair that is the envy of the school, and one of her duties is getting out the daily bulletin. The grandest spot in the school is the library, presided over by Mrs. Kruse, who hates worms and loves cocker spaniels. Her great joy comes each spring with the arrival of the new books that are a constant reminder of the generosity of our revered patron, Mr. Edward Drummond Libbey.

Anything can happen in Libbey and it does happen when the faculty gets under way—full steam ahead. Who brings her classes to order with an attractive smile? How often have we heard these favorite expressions?—"Rows three and four go to the board, please;" "Say ah;" "Where were you yesterday?"; "I can't even draw a straight line;" "Callense;" "Fermez la porte!" "Machen Sie die Tur zu;" "See yourself as others see you." The English department has not only a proud papa, but a proud uncle in Mr. Everhart and Mr. Leiser. Can you count on your fingers how many teachers say, "Put your gum in the basket?" Thumbnail descriptions: Energetic and alert—Miss Payne; sweet and versatile — Miss Russell; petite and witty — Miss Dusha; quiet and understanding—Mr. Vander; young and peppy—Miss Gosline; all business—Mr. Stapleton. Was Mr. Cony's boil an outward expression on an inward state? Mr. Vossler's and Mr. Boyle's wisecracks are responsible for the ripples of laughter heard around rooms 225 and 227. "Spoonerisms" pep up Miss Feller's American Government classes. We have our own Miss Waite to prove that good things often come in small packages. Mr. Lynn's jovial spirit is expressed by his twinkling eyes.

OFFICIALS

Just as at the head of every efficient organization there is a group of individuals that administer and direct the different phases of the intricate system that produces the highest type of efficiency, so is Libbey's Athletic department guided to its yearly and continuing success. Libbey is fortunate in having Mr. Stapleton, who directs and manages the office which handles scheduling, arranging, and administering all athletics sponsored by the school. Mr. Martin is stadium and equipment manager for the school's various athletic teams. He is called upon to assist Mr. Stapleton in ticket sales and in the financial end of the program. The financial position is filled by Mr. Henrion, a former Libbey student who has returned to turn in an excellent record for his handling of the department's financial affairs. The men also contribute the fine advertising that fills the stadium and the gym during the game season.

Endeavoring to keep the teams of Libbey in the finest physical condition throughout the season were Dr. Ladd and Dr. Young. When it comes to the directors of our various teams we have six coaches about whom we may boast. During the last year and also in their previous years for Libbey, these men have developed teams that have placed Libbey in the upper bracket of the sporting world.

COACHES

Each man is highly trained for his position; Libbey could want no more. Libbey's aggregation of capable coaches is headed by Mr. Houser, our friendly, quick witted, even-tempered head football coach. "Chip's" name is synonymous with great grid machines throughout high school athletic circles. This year, as in years before, he has been assisted by Mr. Lynn and Mr. Harding. "Walt" had charge of the hefty line, while "Bus" developed the running, passing, and kicking, and at the same time the strategy of our fleet backs. Mr. Jeffery had charge of the reserve team and was assisted by Mr. Ardner. The boys trained under their tutelage will form future teams. With the arrival of Mr. Orwig, Libbey regained its basketball prestige in the city league. "Bill" trained a group of inexperienced boys into the most feared team in the Toledo league. These boys upset team after team during their successful season. Mr. Jeffery also coached the reserve basketball team, our future varsity players. Mr. Everhart has been to Libbey's track team what a spark plug is to an engine. Our track team has risen from the cellar until it placed second in the city meet and fourth in the state meet. We owe "Bill" a great deal. As a newcomer we have Mr. Spackey in charge of golf and tennis. Our golf team is city champion and holds the spotlight with our tennis team, which was also city champion in 1936.

FLASHES

Eleven fighters, eleven fellows with plenty of what it takes to have a great football team, the golden-clad cowboys of Libbey High, rode high this year, losing only two games and these by a close margin, with each being a moral victory. This fine record has been due to the never ceasing efforts of "Chip" Houser and his assistants, Walter Lynn, and "Bus" Harding, and to the courageous spirit of the fellows that carried the Blue and Gold of Libbey to new heights. Last fall, "Chip" installed for the team a new system of training which he had adopted from the Detroit Lions after having watched that splendid outfit. To help carry out this new program, Mr. Lynn was brought up from his reserve coaching position to act as head line coach.

Our team's spirit was recognized by every Toledo football fan mainly because of the fine sportsmanship displayed by our eleven, who in all the city games received fewer than seventy five yards of penalties and in the Scott game received none. The spirit and fight of the boys can best be explained by the facts that the team were the second lightest in the city and were the smallest team ever to carry the Libbey colors. For the first time the two-captain system was introduced with Thom Kepner as game captain for the majority of the games and Earl Young as honorary captain at the close of the season. This system leaves all the other players free to concentrate on their assignments and enables the game captain to make better decisions.

For an opener, Libbey came to grips with our spunky, small, suburban neighbor, Maumee. Displaying unchecked power from the opening whistle, Libbey's "human Juggernaut" rolled over the small team, 27-0. With the outstanding playing of "Pinhead" Pinniger, and "Suit-case" Suter, who later won berths on the all-city eleven, Libbey soon became the worry of Toledo's gridirons with each opponent becoming more fearful.

In our next engagement, Woodward High proved our victims by being defeated 40-0.

Earl Young

Bauman, of Waite, being tackled by Suter

This hardhitting aggregation kept Libbey on their toes, but the Cowboys soon trampled down all opposition and proceeded to run up the score. However, much credit must be given to the individual playing of our two sets of guards, Adamkiewicz, Ramsdell, Stahl, and McGee, who played one of their best games for Libbey by their ability to "submarine" and come up in the opponents' backfield to make the tackles. Without the aid of these boys, Woodward's initial drives might not have been checked.

We next played host to Central Catholic High with an avengeful spirit for an unearned defeat of the year before. In the first half Libbey's fine set of backs was given a real workout in trying to put the more complex plays in use, but was constantly harassed by Central's two fast and tall guards. Central seldom had the ball in their possession, but, when they did, they were unable to advance it. At half time the score stood, 0-0, but this was changed in the first five minutes of the third quarter, when we drove seventy yards for our touchdown and conversion. Central tried to pass their way to victory, but with the extended efforts of our two ends, Dan Dymarkowski, and Len Semler, they were held in check with us on the long end of a 7-0 score.

These previous games were all played to gain experience for the team in preparation for the toughest, most important game of the season with our ancient rivals, the Collingwood Avenue Bulldogs of Scott High. The first quarter was a see-saw affair with Libbey dominating the play, but this was soon changed when Scott made a touchdown by line plunges and sweepers, and also the conversion, late in the first half. But we were not to be defeated that easily. Our speedy, diminutive back, Les Smith, dashed down the field for sixty yards to make a touchdown when there were only three seconds remaining in the first half, causing the conversion to be made on the referee's time. With the score 7 all at half time, Scott pushed over their second touchdown early in the third quarter, but failed at the conversion. We drove down the field six consecutive times to within the ten-yard line, but were unable to push a touchdown across because of the injuries to our running backs. For the remainder of the game Libbey outfought the Scott team and when the gun ended the game, eleven fellows clad in gold were still pushing Scott down the field. Libbey lost, 13-7, on the scoreboard, but in the hearts of the spectators we were victorious because of the unquenchable fire and fight of the Libbey eleven. A team is only as strong as its tackles, and with a team of Scott's calibre this was true to a great extent. In the forward fall of six men the keystones, "Mo" Orlowski and "Kike" Kepner, our hefty tackles, took the majority of Scott's line thrusts and much can be said and remembered about the ability of these two boys to hold and check the Bulldogs with undying effort.

Bob Gugger on his way to a touchdown to beat Waite

We next traveled to Lima to play Central High, a light but spunky eleven. At half time Libbey led by a score of 6-0, but during the third period the Lima opposition gave way and the Cowboys rode high and brought back a score of 33-0. The playing of two juniors, Marvin Snyder, and Frank Hardesty, was the high point of the afternoon. We will expect much out of these boys next year.

Waite High, our friends from across the river, just back from nationally recognized games, came into the Libbey stadium expecting to win easily, but for once all the luck and fight Waite could muster was not enough to check the Cowboys. With the fine running of Piniger, the quarterbacking of Youngs, the carrying over of the touchdown by Gugger, and the point after touchdown kick of Hochmuth, together with the forest fire of fight the team possessed, the Waite Indians were corralled, 7-6, with the result that once again Libbey had its place in the sun.

On Thanksgiving Day we suffered our severest defeat at the hands of the rampaging De-Vilbiss Tigers. Playing on a frozen field, outweighed twenty pounds per man, handicapped by the absence of such regulars as Pinniger, Hochmuth, Gugger, and Ramsdell, eleven fellows with their backs to the wall dug in and fought. With the winning of this game we would have tied for the city championship, but we came out on the bitter end of a 25-7 score. The highlight of the morning came when Ray Seelman intercepted a DeVilbiss pass and ran sixty-five yards for a touchdown.

Much can be said of each individual player on Libbey's team, but three boys in particular deserve recognition: Byron Suter, our center whose fine defensive play earned him the all city berth; Ernie Pinniger, that shifty, courageous, and hardhitting fullback, who also earned an all city place; and Bob Hochmuth, in whom Libbey had one of their biggest thrills. After each of our touchdowns, Bob tried for the extra point, missing once the whole season and that on an extremely windy day. We salute these boys and the other lettermen: Orlowski, Kepner, Davis, Semler, Dymarkowski, Gibson, Ramsdell, Adamkiewicz, Stahl, McGee, Drake, Gugger, Seelman, Smith, and Captain Earl Young.

It will be hard to forget the courage, fight, and amusing incidents displayed by the boys during the grueling season. Probably the most courageous performance of the year was given during the Waite game when Earl Young was taken out of the game so that his injuries might be examined. He suffered two injured ribs that pained him with each step, but he reentered the game and fought to the finish. In Les Smith's stellar Scott performance was evinced the best example of fight, for when all others had given up, he was still fighting and succeeded in making our only touchdown. Semler and Dymarkowski provided us with a great deal of humor both on the field and in the locker room with comments on opponents and fellow players. Adamkiewicz, our small talkative guard, played under a severe physical handicap, but came through each game with fight to spare. To close our last practice session, "Mo" Orlowski broke the tackling dummy off the blocks, causing our last moments of practice to be hilarious ones.

All of you have displayed your loyalty to Libbey High School. You have given all that was asked of you and a full measure besides. The student body can well be proud of you, the school always remembering you as the team of fighting hearts, the team that fought and gave more than they had in them, the team that placed school before self, the team that thought for only one thing, the honor of the name of Libbey High.

BASKETBALL

REVIEW

George Metzger, Dick Smythe
Windell Moore, Jim Schmitt

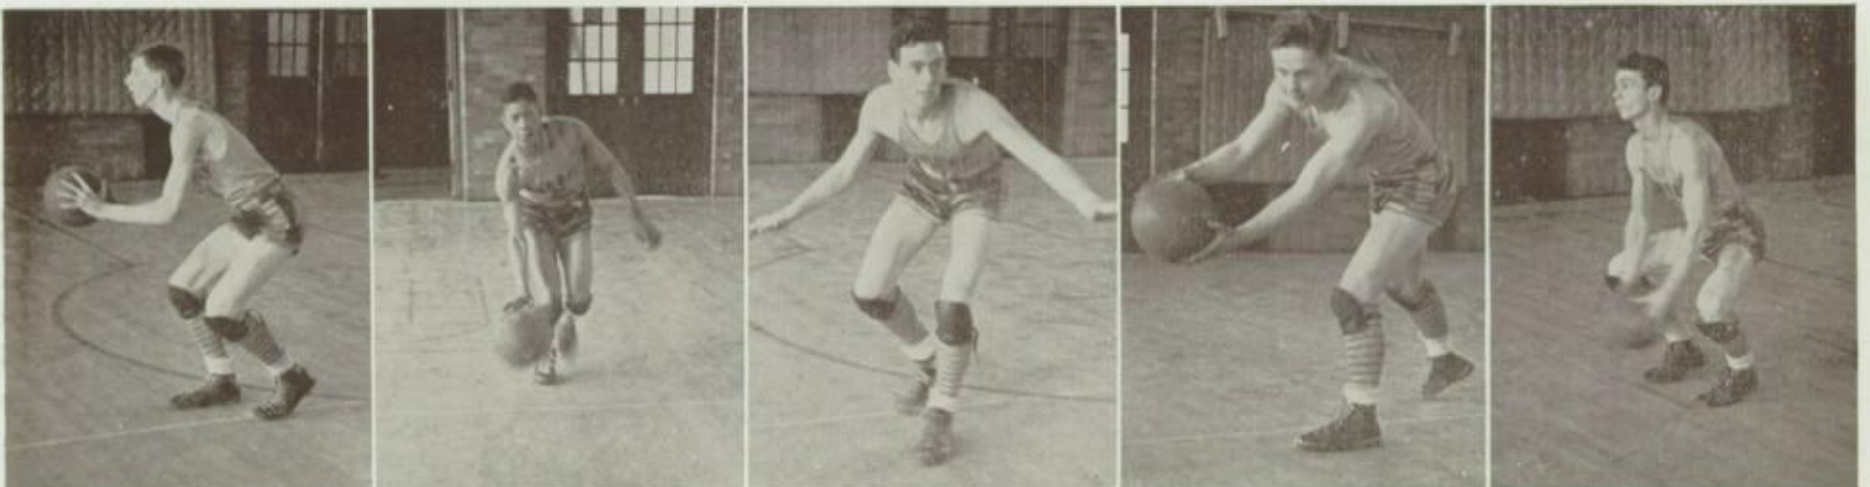

From Benton Harbor, Michigan, Libbey received Coach "Bill" Orwig, who in his first year did for Libbey what few coaches could have done. He gave us an excellent fighting team. Opening the season on our own floor against the weak outsiders from Walbridge, Ohio, the Cowboys took the high score of a 14-7 game. Though still on our floor, their luck changed and the Rossford Bulldogs gave Libbey a "drubbing" with a swift 28-10 score. The Cowboys redeemed themselves, however, by going down to Wayne and giving the small town lads a "rimming" to the tune of 39-12. A trip down to Napoleon proved not so good, as Libbey lost by 7 points in a contest where her rivals ran up 29 points against her. 31-21 was the score of the one-sided game with Vocational High, as Libbey opened her circle of city games with a victory. A loss dampened the Cowboys' spirits as the next game, played at Scott, showed a score of 22-20. Woodward fell before the hardplaying Cowboys for the first time in 13 years as Libbey players piled up 25 points to the opponents' 20. Three losses in a row: to DeVilbiss 24-16; to Central, 23-21; and to Bowling Green's State Champion Blue Devils, 32-19; set the Cowboys back on their heels, but they took their vengeance out on the Alumni who suffered defeat with the score tallying 21-24.

The next round of the city championship race saw Libbey forge ahead over Scott, 21-25, and over Waite, 24-25. DeVilbiss' tall team proved too much for our team in the second game as in the first, and the game closed at 37-19.

When five heads get together!

Vocational ignominiously went under again as Libbey tallied 28 points to their 20. The top-knotching Central gang came back to black Libbey's eye by overriding our 13 score by 11 points. Woodward closed the season by redeeming herself with 26 out of 49 points in our last game. The tournament at the T. U. Field House found Libbey in the semi-finals, riding down Point Place 23-21, and Sylvania, 20-25. Waite stopped this forward march with a 30 score against our 25. The Faculty, managed by Mr. Spackey, also came through to win over the varsity team's 29 tallies by putting 38 points through the hoop to finish basketball at Libbey for another year. Yet Orwig must be looking with a forward eye to the performance of next year as he sums up the accomplishments of such men as Windell Moore, Harold Moss, Bill Ammann, and Ray Chicolini. Windell Moore played only in the last round of games, but in that brief period climbed well up among the city's high scorers. Harold Moss and Bill Ammann performed so well in our last games that most of the credit for victory must go to them. Ray Chicolini, a freshman, played varsity for a period of the year as well as any of the veterans. With these boys as reserve material, Libbey has a bright basketball future.

Libbey's cheerleaders are up in the air over athletics. On the ground they answer to these names: Wilbert Recknagel, Ed Krauel, Willard Bodell.

The gleam of muscled bodies and the tortured features of the runners at the finish line are all well known to the followers of Libbey's Cross Country team. Mr. Everhart developed this team from inexperienced boys who had the desire to create a winning team and did it. For their hard and steady work we owe Mr. Everhart and the team our wholehearted congratulations. With but one defeat, which came from the powerful DeVilbiss team, our boys won over the well trained Scott team in a race packed with thrills from beginning to finish, and also from Fremont's team. The latter game was won by a very close score. From here Mr. Everhart took his group to the Northwestern Ohio Meet, where with very stiff competition, the team did a splendid piece of work by winning second place and succeeded at the Ohio State meet in making a hard-earned fourth.

"They're off!" was the shout that greeted the most successful year in track for Libbey High School. Through hard work and perseverance, Mr. Everhart has developed, with the time and material available, a remarkable team which with its fighting has done a lot to put Libbey on the map as far as track is concerned. The group had a good season with two wins, against Woodward and Waite, and three losses. In the Northwestern Ohio District Meet the team, by their experience and hard work, won third place. In the Mansfield Relays, Miami Relays and the State Meet, Don Youngs, Libbey's track star, won eleventh, thirteenth and twelfth places respectively. With this start Mr. Everhart hopes to develop a championship team next year.

GOLF • TENNIS • BASEBALL

Golf, tennis, and baseball, the three minor varsity sports at Libbey, were Toledo's representatives at the State Meets last year. Although called minor sports, golf, tennis, and baseball are greatly enjoyed by large crowds at Libbey. Our golf team, the defending State champions, went through the season without a single defeat. All of their games were won by a fifty per cent majority. The varsity members of the golf team were, Capt. Norm Holloway, Fred Dannenfelser, Bob and Dal Hall and Tony Rudzinski. Despite its first year in intra-city competition, the tennis team won all its city games to achieve the city championship. With sterling play they continued and placed among the first ten in the State Meet. The only returning members of the team were Neil Johnson and Kent Kaighan. Mr. King was the coach of both the golf and the tennis teams. Baseball is the most popular of the minor sports. It is enjoyed by many Libbey students and visitors. The team, under the tutelage of Mr. Jeffery, had a fairly successful season, winning five games and losing five games. The team continued with excellent hitting and sparkling fielding to win the bitterly contested district championship. Going from here to the State Meet in Columbus, the boys played the powerful Bridgeport team. Despite excellent playing, they lost by a five to four decision. The nucleus of this year's team was Ernie Pinniger, Jim Schmidt, Bob Rhoades, Melvin Bartelheim, Grover Fink, and Jim Auer.

BOWLING • RESERVE BASKETBALL

As silence reigns, a grim faced youngster wearing the uniform of the Libbey Reserve basketball team, steps forth to make a foul shot. It's good, and just then the gun ends the game. The Libbey Reserves have won by that single foul. Thus Libbey's basketball stars of tomorrow are born. These are the ones who will carry on to make Libbey keep its rightful place in the basketball of Toledo. Besides learning the game thoroughly, they have gained the all essential thing, sportsmanship. Mr. Jeffery proved an inspiring leader, and led the boys in a successful year not only by preparing them for the varsity, but also by the scores of their games. The Reserves lost nine games and won seven. Most of the reserve squad will go to the varsity next year, where their good training will prove valuable. Then again, Mr. Jeffery must start with raw material to develop a team to take the place of the ones moved up. That he will be satisfied in the results gained from his hard work we are certain.

Libbey's bowling teams were steady winners all season. In the American League, our team, consisting of Melvin Orlowski, Capt., Ray Seelman, Wayne Stahl, Ted Spitulski, Bill Maciejewski, and William Heltebrake, bowled their way to third place. Third place was lost to Libbey in the National League only after a hotly contested roll-off. Bowlers in this team were Francis and John Iwinski, Kenneth Reiger, Donald Davenport, Matthew Sobieszczanski, and Conrad Jeager. Mr. Plough is the coach and Frank Kacymarek is manager.

INTRAMURALS

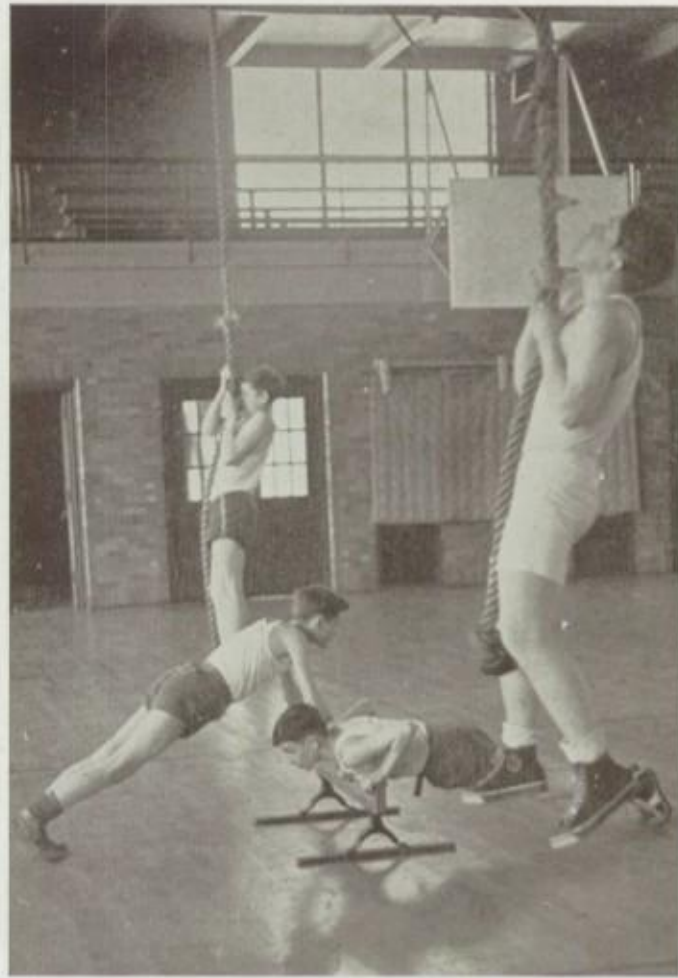

Varsity competition is so keen that few boys can participate in the school's varsity sports. In order to give all boys an opportunity for participation in sports, a creative intramural program has been arranged by Mr. Jeffrey and Mr. Ardner. This program must be worked out well in advance in order to insure a place on one of the teams for all those desiring to take part. Among the sports offered during the past season were indoor baseball, which is one of the most popular sports, especially among freshmen; volleyball, a splendid game for the winter when the students are forced inside; wrestling and boxing, which are excellent for keeping boys in tip-top physical condition; shuffle board, table tennis, and badminton, all of which make for quickness, keenness, and a nice sense of rivalry. The spotlight position on the program was held by basketball because of the awakened interest in that sport on our court this year. Mr. Jeffery arranged for each class to adopt a league name. The seniors chose American; the juniors, National; the sophomores, Buckeye; and the freshmen, Ohio. Each class had five teams and each team played five games. As each class had chosen a league name, each team adopted some nickname. The winners were decided in all leagues under the regular schedule, but three post-season games were played to decide the American League championship. The intramurals provide exercise and enjoyment which the boys would otherwise not receive unless they entered a varsity sport. The participants and their directors are to be congratulated on the fine results of the competition.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Zing!—a whizzing arrow flashes by, too close for comfort, and we are initiated into the activities of the Athletic Association. Archery, together with soccer and hockey, opens the fall program of sports. The basketball and the volley ball tournaments follow, comprising the winter schedule. In these tournaments the girls are divided into teams of from eight to ten players, each team having its own special name. This year's volleyball contest was won by "The Lucky Eights" captained by Florence Gaynor. "The Soups" and "The Flashes" won second and third places, respectively. "The Flashes" led in the basketball tournament, however. Through the excellent teamwork of Alice Jachimiak and Alma Scheffert they succeeded in defeating the Eagles, Cowgirls, Bangs, Cowboys, Fighting Toughies, Blue and Golds, and the Zippers, all excellent, well-trained teams. The first signs of spring found the girls outdoors braving the chill air to play baseball, track, and tennis. One of the interesting practices of the association is the annual awarding of letters, numerals, and chevrons to outstanding members. Recipients of these awards must be not only superior in athletic ability, but also in character, scholarship, and service.

Don't the freshmen learn fast? Here are Eleanore Palecki, Helen Snyder, Elinor Retzke, and Katherine Retzke practicing shuffle-board.

Now for the sophisticated juniors! Jerry Parkinson, Marge Aemmer, Thelma Malott must supervise the freshmen while they are learning the many games in the gym.

Proud are they when they hit the center. Waiting their turn are Mary Becker, Helen Snyder, Mary Harrison, and Eleanor Kruse.

The human pretzel! Mary Dotson and Betty Jo Wickerham perform their best. Good exercise, if it doesn't leave any bad effects.

Life's Symphony

The trumpets blast their strident blare,
Melodious strings soothe all the air,
Surging upward, loud and high,
Then dying down to lowest sigh;
Human sorrows, human joys,
Make up the symphony of life.

Cymbals clash, a clarinet sounds.
A burst of tone the air confounds;
A song of genius now rings out
In notes that winding in and out
Will chord with space, will harmonize
With all the symphony of life.

Each mortal adds his faltering note
To the maze of sounds which round him float.
The Leader gives each one a part,
Directs with skill the finished art.
He wrote the score; He chose the key
For all the symphony of life.

IN MEMORIAM

Amid the joys of our year at Libbey there has come at different times a sadness that is very hard to forget, because three of our boys were taken from us and we could little afford to lose them. In the late fall a sudden illness fell upon Robert Sawtelle, a junior, and before anyone could realize it he was gone. During the spring, death came to a sophomore, Earl Loveless, who had struggled long against sickness. Shortly after, Robert Greeson was stricken, after an illness of but a few days. These boys were splendid citizens, good students, and loyal and kind friends. We are glad that they could be a part of Libbey and shall remember them always with most sincere affection.

EDELIAN

An Edelian group caught in the act—they're practicing checking up on people!

"To keep what we have gained" is the motto of the Edelian staff, which was ably headed the past year by Jane Wilson, editor-in-chief, and her associate, Elaine Douglas, who also arranged the faculty section. The other sections of the book were cared for by Virginia Gray and Jane Lampe, snapshot editors; Elise Ritz and Martha Marsh, senior editors; Thom Kepner, sports; Elizabeth Schmitt, classes; Ruth Powlesland and Dorothy Kading, clubs. Junior aides were Lauren King, Robert Stahl, Irvin Hatcher, Margaret Frank, Julia Marsh, and Kathleen Bramel. The business side was managed by Marian LeBowsky, circulation; Katherine Newman, assistant circulation; Dick McEwen, publicity; and Jay Graser, assistant publicity. From the architectural drawing class came James Muhn, John Berkebile, and Karl Boehk to help mount pictures and copy dummies. Faculty advisers included Mr. Dipman in charge of snaps; Mr. Stapleton, directing finances; and Miss Dusha, with the advice of Principal Williams, general director.

"Nosing out news that is news" and presenting it in an interesting manner to a highly critical student body is the task which faces the Crystal staff. Realizing the excellent opportunity which this class offers for those interested in a journalistic career, many Libbey students have welcomed the chance of participating in the publication of the Crystal. The editor-in-chief, Ben Durfee, had a helpful staff which included Betty Moser, feature editor; Florence Fischer, news editor; Bettie Schmidt, business manager; Joe Pickl and Robert Schoonover, sports editors; Laura Witthoff, exchange editor; and Marshall Hilton, cartoonist. The efforts of Miss Gerdes, the adviser, were constantly directed toward producing a good Crystal and she was aided and advised by Mr. Williams, whose interest and cooperation greatly benefited the staff.

NATIONAL

"Friends, Romans—" Jane's speech brings a laugh.

Supreme among honors to be achieved during the four years in high school is membership in the National Honor Society. Encouraging leadership, scholarship, service, and character, this nation-wide organization places the most emphasis on character, an invaluable quality for success in life. To attain membership, a student's standing must be in the upper third of his class, and his leadership, service, and character must have been recognized and approved not by one teacher but by several. Cooperating with Mr. Hunt and Principal Williams were the officers of the society: Ted Markwood, president; Janet Cordell, vice-president; and the secretary-treasurer, Marie Banks. Comprising a very capable executive staff, this group is responsible for the high degree of organization shown throughout our chapter. Active interest was stimulated by two committees: one was formed for classification of college requisites, both monitary and educational; the other was formed in order to provide this organization with helpful and varied programs. Headed by Ben Durfee, this committee furnished interesting speakers who showed the great demand for extending into the business world the qualities for which the National Honor Society has striven. This committee proved its success by the large attendance at each meeting. Especially interesting to new members was a reception in their honor, held in the form of a roast at Maumee Side-Cut Park during the last week of April. Planning the details of this party was a committee headed by Janet Cordell. Scholarships, obtained through the efforts of the Society's advisers, were awarded several members this year.

SENIOR FRIENDSHIP

Faith, hope, and charity are the by-words of the girls of the Senior Friendship Club. Their principles include love of learning, helping the needy, enjoying leisure activities, and molding their characters after the pattern set by truly Christian ideals. To develop these aims the girls strove to get good grades, were happy in such pleasures as roasts, skating parties, a play, and a breakfast with the Hi-Y, and gave an annual party for the orphans at the Miami Home. Besides, by their willingness to participate in any school project in which they could be of service, these girls were outstanding. Assisting Miss Payne, the adviser, in planning a fine year were Dorothy Smith, president; Betty Ruch, vice-president; Doris Tabbard, treasurer; and Ruth Buhrand, secretary.

SENIOR HI-Y

Out of their experience of their earlier years of high school the boys of the Senior Hi-Y bring to their last year a spirit of friendly helpfulness that is diffused throughout the entire school. Carrying on the ideals motivated in the preceding groups, these boys added during the past year their program of vocational guidance that was given a remarkable send-off by City Manager Edy. Trips through many of Toledo's industrial plants, speakers outside of Libbey, city-wide open forums, and the Mothers' and Sons' banquet all made interesting hours. With his customary earnestness Principal Harold E. Williams acted as adviser, aided by Mr. Dyer and Mr. Ted Meier, of the South Side "Y". The year's officers were Don Ehlenfeldt, president; Richard Potter, vice-president; Ronald Brockway, secretary; Robert Turner, treasurer; Robert Sommers, sergeant-at-arms; and Thom Kepner, program chairman and student adviser.

JUNIOR FRIENDSHIP

What fun we had at the Co-ed Ball! And who sponsored it? The Junior Friendship Club, of course, for they have made this gay party an annual event, participated in by all the girls of Libbey. The club's interest in co-operative programs with the Hi-Y's and the other Friendship groups was unusual this past year and their charitable acts helped the orphans, for whom parties were given, the children of the day nursery, to whom scrap-books were sent, and the Red Cross, for which a quilt was made. Conducting the affairs of the girls were the officers, who consisted of Marian Petrecca, president; Georgana Jensen, secretary; Lucille Gavin, treasurer; June Meeker, chaplain; Doris Schmeltz, sergeant-at-arms. Always encouraging and directing the girls was Miss Brown, whose aid helped all undertakings very much.

JUNIOR HI-Y

Green sweaters here, there, and everywhere! It was the parade of the Hi-Y boys, courteous and serviceable, displaying throughout the school during the past year their ideals of extending and creating the highest standards of Christian character. With Mr. Martin and Mr. Lynn as their advisers, the boys had as their program: many good speakers, such as Mayor Start and Judge Cohn; parties on Hallowe'en and Christmas, as well as a skating party with the Junior Friendship girls; and the annual Mothers' and Sons' banquet which culminated the year's activities. Serving the club with loyal efficiency were the officers: Frank Black, president; Francis Morley, vice-president; Melvin Kachenmeister, secretary; and Walter Bogusz, treasurer.

SOPHOMORE FRIENDSHIP

What happens when a group of Sophomore girls get together? The answer is, usually, talk and laughter. The Sophomore Friendship girls are not unlike their classmates, but they combine noble aim with their entertainment. Eldora Harp, president, saw to it that business was combined with pleasure by her assistants, Betty Kardatzke, vice-president; Lois Hemsoth, secretary; Bonnie Klien, treasurer, and Marcelle Zenk, chaplain. Miss Irwin and Miss Gosline were the advisers. At Christmas the true spirit of the Club was displayed by the donation of a well-filled basket to a needy family. A skating party was held at the Y. W. C. A., and later, a potluck dinner. Their splash party was a jolly affair, well-attended by swimming enthusiasts. Thus these youngsters feel that their year was a very happy and profitable one.

SOPHOMORE HI-Y

It is a great privilege to the sophomore boys to be started on their Hi-Y career with the principal as an adviser, for because of his wide experience in boy-lore, Mr. Williams has much to offer to these youngsters and does so willingly and effectively. Aiding him in counselling the group this past year was Mr. Leiser. The officers elected at the club's first meeting included Dale Anderson, president; Richard Gail, vice-president; Roy Retzke, secretary; Harold Will, treasurer; and Harry Loehrke, sergeant-at-arms. Programs, both enjoyable and educational, were arranged, including inspiring talks, inter-club forums held at the Y. M. C. A., and friendly get-togethers for the purpose of developing poise and ease in the second year Libbeyites. And always for their standard the boys envisioned the ideal Christian character.

THE PERIES

True to their motto, "Secundus Nulli," the Peries have completed their usual functions in traditionally good spirit. This year the club acquired a new adviser, Miss Lok, who with Miss Dusha aided in guiding the Peries. The cabinet included Ruth Powlesland, president; Elizabeth Schmitt, vice-president; Jeanne Riddle, recording secretary; Nancy Rathbun, corresponding secretary; Virginia Hoopes, treasurer; Ruth Lorenz, chaplain; Martha Marsh, censor; and Madelyn Young, sergeant-at-arms. Among the varied affairs which the club enjoyed were the Scott mass meeting, at which the club's fuschia-colored sweaters first appeared; several roasts and doughnut sales; the Peri Prom headed by Elizabeth Schmitt; and the bake sale for the Carnival. The program included drama, poetry, world literature, and original compositions. The banquet terminated a year which afforded each senior many happy memories.

THE PHILS

The Phils, with the motto of their club in mind, have completed a year of beneficial literary study, outside of their usual Club activities. Sweaters were tastefully chosen in a pastel pink with the Phil emblem in brown. The first social event was a roast, and then in no time at all, the Hallowe'en party, the Central mass meeting, the Carnival, the Scott-DeVilbiss tea, the Phil Holly Hop, the Mother's tea, the Salamagundi party, and the annual banquet with its traditional presentation of senior gifts, had passed. Officers this year were: Dorothy Grossman, president; Bettie Kamke, vice-president; Peg Conor and Loretta Nazar, censors; Nancy Neal recording secretary; Bettie Schmidt, corresponding secretary; Betty Moser, treasurer; Marie Banks, chaplain; and Florine Fischer, reporter. Miss Gerdes, Miss Voorheis, and Miss Gosline, who was newly elected this year, were advisers.

THE FORUM

The bright blue sweaters that flash in the hallways are not those of a political organization; they're simply the tell-tale insignia of the Forum boys. Don Bridenbaugh, president, had a busy time leading this lively group. He had able assistance, however, with Ted Markwood, as secretary, Ralph Robertson, treasurer, and Jess Treece, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Hotchkiss and Mr. Weinstock continued to act as advisers. The most outstanding event the Forum sponsored was the December Drag held at Trilby Log Cabin on December 18. It was an accepted fact that the Forum would take charge of the "hot dog" stand during the Carnival, and they did, making their usual success of it. Everyone enjoyed the annual banquet, although for some it meant farewell to an active part in a club which gave them much pleasure.

THE ZETS

The Zets have always been considered a integral part of Libbey. With their motto, "Nothing Without Work," as inspiration, the club successfully undertook a great number of events—the Mother's Tea, several doughnut sales, the "New Year's Swing", which was put across in an admirable manner by a committee headed by Elizabeth Green, and their annual banquet at which the Seniors were given mementos. The program theme for the year "Things We Never Knew 'Til Now," proved a most interesting and variable topic. Great credit should go to the cabinet and the advisers, Miss DeLisle and Miss Henderson. Janet Cordell was elected president; Elizabeth Green, vice-president; Virginia Guyer, corresponding secretary; Jeanne Quigley, recording secretary; Jerry Chase, treasurer; Elaine Douglas and Virginia Gray, censors; Vera Deakin, chaplain; and Gladys Flavell, sergeant-at-arms.

FRENCH • SPANISH

"La seance est ouverte!" and "Atencion!" Both groups are in action. The French guided by Miss Krueger, engaged in plays and lively conversation, all in French, of course, and listened to speakers on French subjects, while the Spanish with their advisers, Miss Russell and Miss Coehrs, followed the customs and life of South American peoples and corresponded with children in Mexico. This group also visited the Carnegie Spanish Art Exhibition held at the Museum of Art. For a diversion the clubs united in a roller skating party. Le Cercle Francais enjoyed its officers: Paul Ross, president; Jane Wilson, vice-president; Marjorie Schminck, secretary; Richard Hughes, treasurer; Dorothy Spraggins, Jane Dienst, Lois Forgner, and Joan Wright, censors. Heading the Tertulia Castellana were Laura Witthoff, president; Jayne Clark, vice-president; Bettie Schmidt, secretary; and Pearl Sisco, treasurer.

GERMAN • LATIN

"Ein, zwei, drei," up to thirty-two goes the roster of the German Club, including the officers, Victor Holliger, president; James Lampe, vice-president; Evelyn Schmidlin, secretary; Laurin King, treasurer. Aided by the adviser, Miss Lok, this group extended its appreciation of the German language and enjoyed together a roast, a Christmas party, a tea for other German clubs, and a banquet . . . Not only to gain but to retain an "A" is necessary for membership in the Latin Honor Society, which this past year purchased medals to be awarded to those presenting worth-while projects in Latin and also added books to the classical library. From the advanced classes, Mrs. Burton, the adviser, appointed as officers: Jane Wilson, president; Ted Markwood, vice-president, Frank Black, secretary-treasurer.

UTAMARA • ARCHITECTURAL

Visions of the America of tomorrow! Beautiful buildings planned by skilled architects and adorned by the creations of inspired artists. The Utamara and the Architectural Club under the respective guidance of Miss Bartley and Mr. Packer are important factors in the school. In the latter group most noteworthy were the prizes and awards gained by its members in the Ohio State Fair and also the establishment of a placement bureau to act as an employment office for graduate industrial arts students. Leading the activities of the Utamara were these officers: Mary Simpson, president; Virginia Gray, vice-president; Josephine Suter, secretary; and Jack King, treasurer. The Architectural Club has for its officers: James Muhn, president; Richard Pockmire, vice-president; John Berkebille, secretary; Bob Schneider, treasurer; and Allen McHugh, sergeant-at-arms.

ALCHEMIST • HOME ECONOMICS

In our modern world the relation between chemistry and home-making is very close. Better homes are due to the growth of science, and the germ of interest begun in the Alchemist and Home Economics Clubs will find fruitful culmination later. It was fitting that the Alchemist spent time in visiting local manufacturing companies to further their knowledge, while the Home Economics Club developed a style show and planned teas and banquets. The Alchemist too, had its social side, participating in roasts, dances, and parties. The officers of the Home Economics group were Sylvia Houser, president; Gertrude Tansey, vice-president; Evelyn Pettit, secretary; Doris Ritter, treasurer; Bonnie Klein, reporter. The advisers were the Misses Lloyd, Owen, and Wylie. The Alchemist officers included Ed Perse, president; Jean Moore, vice-president; Ruth McCauley, secretary; and Joe Pickl, treasurer. Mr. Vossler was the adviser.

BIOLOGY

Nature lovers, here is a club for you! Among the many activities carried out this year were a skating party, a trip to the Zoological Park, and a lecture by Miss Bessey on languorous sunlit Hawaii. For their carnival concession the group offered pitch-penny boards and the cane rack which proved amusing to the ambitious. Very interesting programs enjoyed by all consisted of motion pictures, nature talks, discussions, and games. The aim of this club, to further interest in biology and in the observation of every-day life, was advanced throughout the year by the work of the advisers, Miss Fiedler and Mr. Rusie, and also by the cabinet, which consisted of Eugene Rohrbacker, president; Virginia Jantz, vice-president; Mildred Warner, secretary; James Cothorn, treasurer; and Ezra Spevak, sergeant-at-arms.

Row 3: Richard Mann, Jack Anderson, George Bigelow, Dick McEwen, Jay Graser.

Training in school for business abroad and learning by doing are facts exemplified by the Commercial Club and Activities Department of Libbey. The latter group has a three part arrangement consisting of publicity, Edelian, and activities tickets, in charge of Dick McEwen, Marian Le Bowsky, and Katherine Newman, respectively. Students who helped out of school hours were Verdene Lewis, Thelma Ebert, Genevieve Lorenz, Jane Meeker, Jay Graser, and Gerry Woods. These people did all the decorating for mass meetings and games. The department was directed by Mr. Stapleton and Mr. Martin. Advising the Commercial Club were Mr. Toepfer and Mr. Smith. The affairs of this club, including the study of government bulletins, and, for pleasure, a Mothers' Tea, were enjoyed by the members and the officers, who were Naomi Wetzel, president; Arlene Ott, vice-president; Genevieve Lorenz, secretary; Florence Karpp, treasurer; and Margaret Van Hellen, assistant treasurer.

GLEE CLUB

To the tune of "Our Libbey Colors Blue and Gold—" the Libbey Glee Club marches forth to greet us. The work and activities of the club were under the supervision of Mr. Harvey, who also directed the orchestra and band. The officers, elected by the vote of all members, were Harold Ronfeldt, president; Albin Adamkiewicz, vice-president; Virginia Janike, secretary; Betty Kardatzke, treasurer; Melvin Orlowski, sergeant-at-arms, and Earl Young, property manager. During the Christmas vacation the chorus presented a series of songs and hymns with the assistance of the orchestra. By far the outstanding event of their entire year was the musical operetta "Sonia," a brilliant affair, excellently managed and presented on March 12.

ORCHESTRA • BAND

Tum-tum-te-tum! Rhythmically the band marched down the field giving new zest to the peppy game. In addition, its members lent their untiring efforts to the annual Spring Festival. While the band was thus engaged, the orchestra carried out its heavy schedule, its first public performance coming in the Christmas program when this group assisted the chorus in its numbers. Again when the chorus presented "Sonia," the orchestra played a large part by furnishing the accompaniment. The annual Spring Festival, in which the joint musical groups of Toledo high schools appeared, gave the orchestra further opportunity to exhibit its merits. Officers elected by the members: Kathleen Felker, president, Paul Peters, vice-president; and Marie Simmons, secretary.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC

In adhering to their paramount objectives: fairplay, sportsmanship, and good health, the Girls' Athletic Association has formed one of the most educational and worth while clubs in our school. With the aid of Miss Mary Louise Bowman and Miss Katherine Maher, and the fine leadership of the officers: Loreen Taylor, president; Virginia Woods, vice-president; Audrey Keplinger, treasurer; and Sue Schroeder, secretary, the club has proved its value in many ways, and has made a great deal of progress in the past year. Everyone remembers the good time that was had at the splash party, the skating party, and also the many roasts and hikes which turned out to be so successful. Every member could find at least one activity which particularly interested her because those offered were so many and varied. Among the popular major sports were volley ball, soccer, hit-pin baseball, baseball, and basketball. Among the individual sports were bowling, ping-pong, tumbling, deck-tennis, shuffle board, and archery. It is the ambition of every girl of the society to be the proud owner of a letter which is given as a reward for those excelling in the club's ideals. In many ways the girls belonging to this society have had opportunities which have afforded them better chances for personal and social development.

ELECTRICITY CLUB • Q.D.'s

A club for electricity and an electric club—they are both here! Everyone knows that Mr. Plough aids the boys in their quest to further their knowledge of electricity, and everyone also knows that Mr. Coney and Mr. Archambo rate the Q-D's as "live-wires." And well one may, for while the first group was busily engaged in a tour of Ford's Plant at Flat Rock and Toledo's radio transmitter, the Q-D's were planning interesting programs, boxing matches, a dance, and a farewell banquet. Both groups stressed leadership and cooperation and added much to the activities of the school. The officers of the Electricity Club were Floyd Harper, president; Clayton Grice, treasurer; and Llewellyn Oyster, secretary. The Q-D officers were: Richard Pockmire, president; John Berkebile, vice-president; Frank Morley, secretary; and Robert Cook, sergeant-at-arms.

1—Yum Yum! So that's what the Edelian staff and Miss Dusha did at the N. S. P. A. convention in Detroit. 2—Working hard, Orrin? 3—The engineer explains the inner workings of the school heating system to some inquiring Libbeyites. 4—Left-Right, Left-Right, and so farewell 'til tomorrow. 5—The candid cameraman snaps the senior class vice-president. —What's the matter, Virginia? 6—A salesman in the making—Walter Bogusz offers the gourmands of Libbey some ice-cream.

1—The mystery is solved with "Emma Broop" revealed as Joe Pickl. 2—Jean Quigley and Gladys Flavell prove that beauty makes the woman. 3—Albin Adamkiewicz, Bettie Kamke, and Shirley Tomb cast a vote for their candidate, while Doris Windnagel and Maxine Gwin stand by to guard against stuffing of the ballot box. 4—Ben Durfee and Sue Schmitt "swing it" at the Peri Prom. 5—Bettie Kamke, Audrey Keplinger, and Ruth Lorenz teach the pledges to respect their elders.

1—Laura Witthoff, Marie Simmons, and Bettie Schmidt resting with their boy friends between dances. 2—"This is my last affair," say Audrey Keplinger and Larry Blodgett. 3—No wonder the Peri Bake Sale was such a success—just cast your eye at the attractive salesgirls. 4—The Popularity Contest winners, Pamela Koch, Ruth Powlesland, Marion Petrecca, Ramona Knerr, Ruth Gadt, pose for a picture. 5—Watch out, Fred! Looks as if Thom is competing for the favors of Bettie.

1—Dr. Williams, Miss Krueger, and Mr. Williams officiated at the door-prize show—while all we did was hope we'd be one of the lucky winners. 2—Betty Ruch and Doris Schmeltz snapped during a busy hour at the Libbey Carnival with Miss Gerdes and Miss Voorheis conferring in the background. 3—What was Leon Lowrie doing that was so interesting, Bob? 4—The Junior Ring Committee caught in the act of picking out those rings that the juniors were so proud of. 5—Miss Voorheis' psychology class snickered, while Thom Kepner and Martha Marsh fed carrots and stuff to Janet and Edward.

Chess Club: Howard Kranz, Lawrence Althouse, Arlene Sturszinger, Margie Drube, Dorothea Black, Margaret Jaster, Jimmie Olds, Richard Warwick. Row 2—Eugene Rohrbacher, Dick Kragel, Harold Tink, Mr. Spackey, Max Culver, Irwin Hatcher, Willard Jascob. Row 3—George Webb, Bob Weaver, Jimmie Harris, Arthur Weber, Billie Jacobs. 2—Laugh, clowns, laugh! 3—Bettie Schmitt, Neil Johnson, Pat Holloway, and Jerry Chase—sweethearts on parade. 4—The door-prize show, and Dr. Williams presents a prize to a lucky freshman. 5—Summer vacation, and we're all smiles and tan.

1—Mary Harrison and her friends practice hitting the bull's eye. 2—Loreen Taylor and her group kick high, kick low. 3—That's what you get, Mr. Cony, for making bets with the senior class dean. 4—The three chairman of the lit. dances, Bettie Schmitt, Bettie Kamke, and Elizabeth Green, confer. 5—Max Tadlock, Lucille Gavin, Bill Ammann, Virginia Hoopes, Ellen Ruble, Don Bridenbaugh plan J-Hop.

1—Nancy Neal and Janet Cordell getting those coats of tan. 2—Unexpected, wasn't it, Virginia? 3—The love bug will bite you if you don't watch out. Just see what it did to Don, Norma, Ila May and Kent. 4—Ruth, Dorothy and Janet. 5—Irvin Hatcher, Dot Kading, Virginia Gray, and Thom Kepner practice for the Senior Prom. 6—The Young brothers and the Pinniger brothers, snapped with their proud mammas and Coach Houser. 7—Members of the Edelian class working on the senior quotations.

1—Dick Pockmire, treas.; Ronald Brockway, serg't-at-arms; James Muhn, pres.; Janet Cordell, sec'y.; and Virginia Gray, vice pres.; the efficient officers of the senior class, at their studies. 2—The Picnic Committee: Richard Shock, George Biglow, Audrey Keplinger, chairman, Betty Poggemeyer, Loretta Nazar, Ralph Robertson. 3—Henry Beale used his best judgment, while the rest of the announcement committee, Marie Banks, Bettie Kahn, Victor Holliger, Nelson Glesser, and Ruth Wolenschlager, paid close attention. 4—The officers of the junior class: Marion Petrecca, vice pres.; Frank Black, treas.; Don Bridenbaugh, pres.; Jean Riddle, sec'y.; and Dick Weber, serg't-at-arms. 5—The Banquet Committee: Thom Kepner, Dorothy Grossmann, Nancy Neal, Joe Pickl, chairman, John Hennessy, and Jean Quigley. 6—Mr. Hunt and the Memorial Committee: Laura Witthoff, Roger Knepper, chairman, Karl Boehk, Bob Turner, Bettie Ruch, Paul Weaver. 7—Joyce Robertson, Ted Markwood, Gladys Flavell, James Lampe, Bettie Kamke, and Don Ehlenfeldt, the Round-up Committee, catch a breath of fresh air. 8—The prom was bound to be a success with Ruth Powlesland, Ed Perse, chairman, Neil Johnson, Bob Schoonover, Elizabeth Green, and Jean Moore on the arranging details committee.
